

Thorn Lewis + Duncan, located in Dayton, Ohio, is a firm of Certified Public Accountants and Business Advisors providing professional, proactive and timely advice to its clients on accounting, tax and business matters while maintaining a business environment that encourages personal and professional growth for its employees.

Company Profile

Thorn Lewis + Duncan provides a full range of accounting and tax services with a level of professionalism and expertise normally associated with national or large regional accounting firms. As a local practice, however, our firm has a much greater sensitivity to the individual circumstances, personalities, and operating environments of our clients. Our competitive advantage lies in our ability to offer professionalism in a wide range of accounting services while maintaining a level of personal attention that few, if any, large accounting firms can match.

Each staff member makes a difference at our firm. With one partner to every four professionals, we are small enough for partners to know the staff, yet large enough to instill independence.

Entry-level staff accountants are involved in accounting, auditing and taxes and utilize their computer skills in conjunction with these assignments. We do not assign our professionals to a department, which means you will not be limited to a narrow field of work. During the first several years, staff accountants have the opportunity to work on many different and challenging engagements. Staff are involved in client engagements from beginning to end and deal directly with business owners and top management.
